Elena Butko

As an abstract contemporary painting artist, Elena Butko is always looking for the next opportunity to translate what she experiences into art. Since long ago, She has led a long journey translated to the artworks she creates. Displaying deep and heavy thoughts into unique art pieces.

With artworks showing strength, no fear, power, and depth. Her inspirations are born from something simple at home to whole cities and nature.

Although she has her own particular style and technique that she keeps coming back to, as most of her paintings are given numbers instead of names. Her style will always speak to the beholder, leaving room for imagination and interpretation.

Elena holds a Masters Degree in Art Criticism. She also enjoys progressive and alternative music, dancing, photography, and poetry.

A fashion show runway scene. A model with a voluminous afro hairstyle is walking on a runway, wearing a long-sleeved, high-necked, form-fitting dress covered in shimmering silver sequins. The background is dark with a warm, reddish-orange glow. The word "VOGUE" is overlaid in a large, white, serif font across the center of the image. The runway is a light-colored surface, and there are blurred figures of other models and audience members in the background.

Unveiling Fashion's Finest: The Spectacular 7th Edition of The Fashion Factor

Press Release March 6, 2024

The Fashion Factor's 7th edition swept the fashion world off its feet with an unprecedented blend of artistry and innovation. Opening the second day was a historic moment as the world witnessed the first-ever artistry luxury carpet fashion show and mesmerizing dance performance, setting an electrifying tone for the day. The avant-garde abstract art catwalk, a breathtaking display of creativity, brought the event to a grand finale, leaving attendees in awe.

Gathering emerging fashion designers from around the globe, FF7 showcased the future of haute couture, with celebrity jurors handpicking the best of the best for the coveted Futurism Awards. Among the highlights was Yoona AI, Berlin's cutting-edge fashion AI design platform, partnering with FF7 to offer the winner of the "Emerging Style Virtuoso" award an exclusive one-year premium subscription. The platform also collaborated with avant-garde artist Elena Butko, translating her abstract artworks into stunning couture designs.

Day one set the stage with performances by Sharmoofters and captivating runway displays by participating designers. But it was day two that truly stole the spotlight, as the fashion world bore witness to groundbreaking moments. From the spellbinding carpet dance performance by Cinar Rugs to the visionary designs showcased in the Avant-Garde Art Gallery Catwalk by Elena Butko, the day was filled with unprecedented beauty and innovation.

Attendees were treated to a star-studded affair, with luminaries such as supermodel Naomi Campbell and ultra-soprano opera singer Emily Thorner gracing the event. The director of the Palace Entertainment Group, Annina Alexis Fedorkova, captured the essence of the evening, highlighting the convergence of art and fashion on a global stage.

"This is one of the best fashion shows I have attended," remarked Alexandra Busheva, Assistant Executive Producer of Broadway Entertainment Group, capturing the sentiment of the evening.

Cinar Rugs, renowned for their exquisite handwoven silk carpets, recently unveiled the Cinar Fine Rugs Museum in Dubai, offering visitors a glimpse into their unparalleled craftsmanship. Meanwhile, Elena Butko's captivating artworks adorned the concept showroom of the Fashion Factor, enhancing the shopping experience for attendees.

Media partners such as Walther Kranz and Marco Polo Experience Magazine lent their support to FF7, amplifying its reach and impact. The event also celebrated the achievements of award-winning designers, recognizing their contributions to the world of fashion and design.

The festivities continued with an exclusive after-party hosted by Roberto's, the famed restaurant located in the heart of DIFC (Dubai International Financial Centre), bringing the two-day extravaganza to a memorable close.

As the curtains drew on the 7th edition of The Fashion Factor, it left an indelible mark on the fashion landscape, reaffirming its status as a premier platform for creativity, innovation, and style.

“A captivating collaboration is precisely what we've made possible with this project!

We delved into the mesmerising artistry of Elena Butko, emerging abstract artist and rising star at Fashion Factor Dubai. In a matter of seconds, we transformed her hand paintings into stunning dresses in a seamless fusion of art and cutting-edge technology. We took Elena's masterpieces, turned them into prints, and brought them to life in 4 unique static and avatar designs in our platform.

Join me on this journey as we explore the magical realm where art and tech intertwine. Cheers to Elena Butko for her awe-inspiring creations, and here's to wearing your favorite art with pride!”
